

Proclamation

Building Safety Week 1995

April 9-15, 1995

Whereas, the safety of the buildings we occupy daily is essential to the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of this nation; and

Whereas, among our most fundamental laws and ordinances are those which provide standards for the safe construction of buildings in which people live, work and play; and

Whereas, for construction and building codes to be effective and enforced, understanding and cooperation must exist between building officials and the people they serve; and

Whereas, through the efforts of state and local building officials and their cooperative relationship with the construction industry, the administration of these health and life-safety standards is assured; and

Whereas, units of state and local government across this nation — along with such prestigious organizations as Building Officials & Codes Administrators (BOCA) International, Inc., International Conference of Building Officials (ICBO), Southern Building Code Congress International (SBCCI) Inc., the Council of American Building Officials (CABO), and the National Conference of States on Building Codes and Standards (NCSBCS) — are joining to promote the use of building and construction codes today, for a lifetime of building safety, through the observation of Building Safety Week; and

Whereas, the theme of Building Safety Week 1995 has been established as "Using Tools to Build ... Public Awareness";

Now, therefore, I Richard D. Strachan, of
The Town of Berthoud, Colorado do hereby proclaim the week of April 9-15, 1995 as BUILDING SAFETY WEEK. I urge all citizens to participate in Building Safety Week activities to help promote building safety, to create awareness as to the importance of construction and building codes, and to spotlight the role of the dedicated building official in administering those codes.
